SPRING VS POND

Water shortages are getting to be common place on Coffee County farms. Ponds and springs are drying up that have provided water for many years. In some areas of the county, the situation is critical.

District Supervisor, Marion Sanders, of Dothan has a good comparison of two water sources on his farm - a spring development and a small pond. The pond is dry for the first time in over ten years. The spring is still providing enough water for Sanders' large herd of cattle.

Dudley Littlejohn of the Woodland Grove Community has two spring developments on his farm. One goes dry periodically, and the other one has never gone dry. No water supply is permanent; not even a well, but there is less risk involved in a spring development than from any other source.

Many ponds are still providing adequate water for livestock and fish. Claude Sims says that the water is still running through the overflow pipe on his pond in the Clintonville Community. Littlejohn may not have water in the drought, but they won't get thirsty.

POND FEVER STILL HIGH

It seems that about everybody with a piece of land wants to build a pond on it. Traffic to and from the SCS office is crowded with would-be pond builders.

The latest count, there were six dams under construction in the county. Progress on these dams range all the way from site clearing to almost completion. Five contractors are busy as a result of this pond building activity.

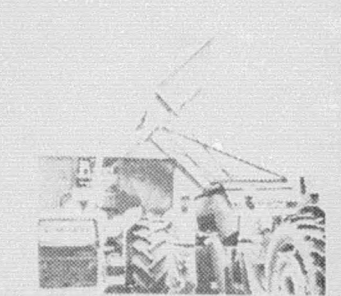

This group of pond builders include Hollis Brothers, Neal Johnson, Monroe Vynard, John Mack, Eugene Parfitt, and H. C. McDaniel. Some are getting ACP cost-shares and some are paying all the cost. All are building according to SCS specifications and under our supervision.

GOOD HAY CROP

The number of hay producers in the county is increasing.

TALK ABOUT A COMBINE!

C. M. and Hollis Adams particularly like the easy way the low, wide header handles the vines without damaging the peanuts, how smoothly they flow through the combine, how thoroughly they are cleaned and separated. "The Lilliston 1500 sure gets the job done on time."

Overwhelming testimony proves the Lilliston first in the field.

DISABLED WORKERS CAN RECEIVE SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS NOW

"There are many disabled workers in this area who could receive Social Security payments by filing an application," states Harry N. Scott, Manager of the Dothan Social Security District.

Mr. Scott pointed out that many disabled workers still put off filing a social security claim for months, and sometimes years, after they become disabled. In a few cases the disabled person loses some payments because of the delay. "back payments" cannot be made for more than 12 months before the claim is filed, even though the person has been disabled for 2 or 3 years before this.

To receive disability benefits under the Social Security Law, two requirements must be met. First, the disability must be severe enough that it prevents the person from doing any substantial gainful work. The condition must be expected to last for at least 12 months or to result in death. Secondly, the disabled person must have worked and paid into social security for at least 5 years in the 10 year period before he became disabled. For persons 31 or younger, less work is required. Even though a person meets all these requirements, he still must file a claim. Mr. Scott emphasized that it is important to contact the social security office immediately when disability first occurs.

By filing early, a claim can be made on the claim and the first check will arrive on time. For more information, call 845 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. It is also open touch with your district office from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon on Saturday.

Coffee County Cattlemen To Vote August 20

County Extension Chairman Tom Casaday announced today that a swine day will be held for hog producers at the Wiregrass Substation, Tuesday, August 20, at Headland. The meeting will get under way at 9 a.m. in the auditorium.

According to Casaday, swine specialists from Auburn University will present the latest information on feeding, management, federal hog grades, pork promotion, marketing and the cholera eradication program.

"We've seen big changes in swine production in the last two years, mostly toward confinement housing," said Casaday.

"It's extremely important that Coffee County producers stay up-to-date on the latest information," added Casaday, noting that growers are still fighting a cost-price squeeze.

Grand Jury Report Complies Of Conditions

The Grand Jury report released Wednesday by the Circuit Court, listed 21 indictments, consisting of 21 felonies and 8 misdemeanors.

Having completed reviewing the law violations, the Grand Jury had some harsh words to say about County buildings.

The Circuit Clerk's office needs repair and has no records storage facilities made available. The lavatory in the men's restroom is a "disgrace and the ones in the ladies' rooms are about as bad, according to the Grand Jury."

The Jury reported the County Jail in an awful state of repair and stated that "it seems that nothing has been done since the last Grand Jury made its recommendations other than to get the plumbing in operating order." They further stated that the building needed extensive work.

The Grand Jury recommended that the legislative delegation prepare a bill providing a minimum of $10,000 plus mileage each day for all jurors.

Jury foreman was Carlton Ray.

Football Practice To Begin Monday

The Elba Tigers will begin football practice Monday morning at 8 a.m., according to head coach, Leon Atkins.

Atkins stated Monday that he will meet with all prospective football players Thursday afternoon (today) at 6 p.m. at the football stadium for orientation. He urges all football players to attend this meeting.

Swine Day To Be Held On August 20

Coffee County cattlemen will vote in a county-wide BEEF Promotion Referendum Tuesday, Aug. 20, according to Harris Moates, President of the Coffee County Cattleman's Association.

The purpose of the referendum is for all cattle owners to decide whether or not they want to continue their state-wide BEEF PROMOTION PROGRAM which is financed by their voluntary contributions of 10¢ per head on cattle they sell.

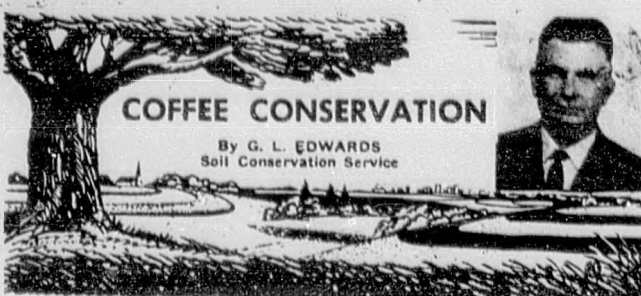

Moates pointed out that this self-help program is strictly voluntary and any cattleman who does not wish to participate in the program is not required to go so. Contributions from this program will be used to receive assistance to conduct an overall BEEF Promotion Program of ADVERTISING, PUBLIC RELATIONS, EDUCATION, MARKETING AND RESEARCH.

The BEEF Promotion Program is endorsed by the Coffee County Cattleman's Association.

Polling places in Coffee County will be located at both the Elba and Enterprise Courthouses; Prossy Morn Buying Station, Elba; J. B. Maddox Store, New Brockton; Wilson's Store, New Hope; and at the Bank of Kinross.

Hereford Men To Conduct Tour Saturday

A set of "America the Beautiful" prints were recently placed in the Enterprise Public Library. This set of 10-cent lithographs of the American countryside has turned into the most popular photographic series ever produced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

During the last 2 years, beauty-loving Americans have bought more than 2.8 million of the "American the Beautiful" prints, including more than 390,000 singles and 47,000 full sets. The series, which is in its second printing, was developed by the Soil Conservation Service.

Each picture in the series depicts a typical rural conservation scene, one for each state, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands comprising the series total to 52 pictures, which include stark patterns made by strip cropping, Montana, dam in Minnesota, and a farm preserve in Virginia. The Alabama picture features a multi-purpose lake in Clay County.

The colorful series has been shown in meeting halls, banks, outdoor fairs, museums, and airports. Prints hang in homes, stores, schools and libraries, and in many offices, including those of Congressmen.

America the Beautiful prints have been bought and framed for use as prizes and awards, cut up for scrapbooks and doll houses, and used in television shows.

Each print is in striking natural color, and measures 15 by 20 inches on 20 by 24 inch paper, suitable for framing.

The color prints may be obtained by writing the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 and sending a check or money order for $1.00 for each state picture, or $5 for the complete set of 52 prints. Order blanks may be obtained from the local SCS office.

Cotton Farmers To Get Final ASCS Money

Cotton farmer who took part in the 1968 cotton program will begin getting final program payments soon after August 15, ASCS has announced. The payments represent any unpaid part of the diversion payment and the price-support payment to growers who signed up and then met applicable provisions of the program. Growers had the option of requesting that half of the estimated diversion payment be made in advance at the time of the sign-up last spring. About 547 cotton growers in the county signed up to divert 2,240 acres from upland cotton production under the 1968 cotton program.

Teaching Plants

A University of Toledo psychologist may be the Pavlov of plants. Dr. Harvard Armus reported what he believes is the first successful experiment to teach plants. He says he used a process similar to that used with dogs some sixty years ago by shaking the stems of the plants. This is the plant's normal reaction to shaking. Then he began darkening the room before shaking them. Though mimosa plants also fold their leaves in the dark, the plants associated the darkening with the shaking. Soon they were folding their leaves when he darkened the room but did not shake the plants, and they were folding them in about half the time they normally take in the dark.

At a recent meeting of the Associated Press in New York, those present were shown photographs of modern weapons in the hands of North Vietnamese soldiers.

They were told that these weapons had been supplied by the U. S. S. R. and by Red China.

Both of these nations are members of the International Olympic Games group.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the International Olympic Committee, because of the threat of boycott of some two-seventy African countries, South Africa was excluded from the coming autumn's competition in Mexico City, South Africa had offered completely to integrate its team, to send a multi-racial group marching under the banner of South Africa, and performing as a national unit.

The U. S. S. R. was among the large group of nations that announced the boycott of the games if South Africa were allowed to compete. To our shame our country backed down before the Communist pressure.

We honor the amateur code, although we know the Communists do not honor it and send professional athletes to compete in these games.

South Africa is certainly not threatening the peace or menacing in aggressive action against other nations. The Communists are doing exactly that in many areas throughout the world.

However, South Africa is maintaining the honorable traditions of amateur sports. The Communists are not, but still we backed them against South Africa.

Sylvia Jones, Jack Padgett Wed In Ceremony At Goodman Church

In a candlelight ceremony at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, August 10, 1968, Miss Sylvia Jones became the bride of Mr. Jack Padgett, Rev. William C. Lucas, pastor, and Rev. Don Griggs of Troy, officiated the double-ring ceremony in the Goodman Baptist Church, Route One, Enterprise, Alabama.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jones, Route One, Enterprise, and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Padgett, Route One, Elba, Alabama.

Following a program of wedding music by Mrs. Janet King, Rev. Lucas delivered a brief sermon on the sacredness of the wedding vows. Afterwards the congregation sang "Save Our Lord," "Like a Shepherd Lead Us," and read responsively from the wedding bulletin, presented to all guests, the scripture relating to the Christian family.

Mrs. Part Purvis, vocalist, sang "House of God" and "Wedding Prayer." Music for the procession, Henry Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary" was provided by the organ and trumpet, played by Miss Nina Rowe. The recessional was "Mazurka" by Chopin.

The couple pledged their vows at a brass altar, topped with a white Bible, gift of the bride from the groom, beneath a background setting of two fifteen-branch brass candelabra in a tiered fashion with burning ivory tapers centered with an arrangement of apricot mums and gladioli. Two nine branch matching candelabra, entwined with emerald foliage and two arrangements of apricot mums and gladioli, flanked the tiered candelabra. These decorations, on the platform of the church where the vows were pledged, were embanked with polished emerald trees, and potted old-English ferns enhanced the choir rail. Two brass cathedral candelabra complete with October pride gladioli and emerald foliage elevated to the main floor. Double aisle runners were rolled for the professional and recessional. The aisles were marked with hurricane lamps burning with ivory tapers and the lamps were repeated on the rails of the front steps of the church. Burning tapers decked with greenery accented the windows of the sanctuary.

Wedding guests were registered in the vestibule of the church by Mrs. Wayne Etheredge, Pensacola, and Miss Carla Cook of Elba. The registry tables were covered in yellow and overlaid with a full floor length skirt, accented at the corners with yellow satin bows and streamers, and holding a burning taper in a silver candelabra embellished with tulle and ribbon. Potted ferns formed a background setting the vestibule.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of mouseline de sole with Empire style. The sculptured neck line and high waist featured motifs of re-emphasized alencon lace encrusted with pearls. The long fitted sleeves, fastened at the wrist with tiny covered buttons, featured the lace down the sleeves and at the wrist. The sheath skirt was accented with garlands of alencon lace and pearls. The cathedral wateau train, attached to the empire waist, repeated the lace motifs centered with pearls.

The finger tip veil of imported illusion fell from a floral design of alencon lace outlined with pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of pale yellow tulle, a gold cross engraved with the bride and groom's names and the wedding date adorned the top of the cake. Mrs. Jimmie Davis and Mrs. Linda Berry, both of Elba, cut and served the cake.

The punch was served from a table covered with a floor length white satin full gathered cloth and holding a floral arrangement of yellow daisies in a silver container studded with burning tapers. The guests were registered by Miss Sara Warr.

Mrs. Mable Purvis greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the wedding party. The groom's table, covered with a full length yellow satin cloth which fell in pleats, was centered with petals. Mr. Doug Martin, Elba, served the groom as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Bobby Jones, Birmingham, and Doyce Jones, Enterprise, brothers of the bride. Ushers included Fred Young, Elba, brother-in-law of the groom; Zackie Storey, Tom Dyess, Jimmy Wise, Gary Hudson, Ronnie Vaughan, Tony Hudson, Herbie Wise, all of Elba; Bill Brazzelton, Albany, Georgia, and Jerry Jones, cousin of the bride, Enterprise.

Brett Davis of Elba serves as junior groomsman and Burns Jones, Birmingham, and Brad Jones, Enterprise, nephews of the bride, carried the rings on matching pillows of white satin.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones chose a mint green silk lace and matching shoes. Mrs. Padgett, mother of the groom, wore blue lace and they each had corsages of white orchids.

For traveling the bride chose an orange dress of polyester knit with a matching orange and white dress length coat. Her accessories were of matching colors and she wore an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride's parents entertained with a garden reception. Immediately following the ceremony at her home.

The SUN shines BRIGHT

But wherever it shines... there are shadows. Wherever there are golden opportunities there are also sombre tragedies. Some fail to grasp their blessings.

Ours is a nation which guarantees to every child the opportunity for religious training. Yet ours is a nation which smarts under the scourge of a moral disease — juvenile delinquency.

In blessing you with a son or daughter, God has entrusted to you a precious soul. You are required by law to give your child a secular education. But, despite the scourge of delinquency, a free nation must leave to your conscience the question of your child's moral and religious education.

God has blessed America. With a nearby Church ready and eager to provide Christian training for your child, and religious foundation for your family's life, the Sun shines bright. But there are shadows. You must decide!
